- i) Such other information and explanations as may be required by us and provided by the management.

VIII. VALUATION STANDARDS

The Report has been prepared in compliance with the Valuation Standards issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and adopted by ICAI Registered Valuers Organisation.

IX. BACKGROUND INFORMATION OF ASSETS BEING VALUED

To carry out an independent assessment of the Swap Ratio for the proposed arrangement in the nature of amalgamation of Transferor Company with Transferee Company.

There is no Regulatory Advisory on valuation of share under amalgamation but we have considered principles, wherever applicable, provided under determination of fair market value under Rule 11UA [(1)] of Income Tax Rules 1962 and notification No. 620 dated 12.07.2017, notified by the Central Board of Direct Taxes ('CBDT'), on rules for determination of Fair Market Value ('FMV') for unquoted shares relevant for section 50 CA of the Income tax Act, 1961.

X. VALUATION METHODOLOGY AND APPROACH

Valuation of the enterprise or its equity shares is not an exact science. This exercise may be carried out based on the generally accepted methodologies, the relative emphasis of each often varying with factors such as;

- i. Specific nature of the business
- ii. Listing and liquidity of the equity, in case of a listed Company.
- iii. Economic life cycle in which the industries or the company is operating and
- iv. Extent to which comparable company information is available

These factors are not evident on the face of the Balances sheet as well as on the records of the Company. However, these factors will directly influence the worth and ultimately the fair value of the share. The results of this exercise could vary significantly depending upon the basis used, the specific circumstances and professional judgment of the valuer. In respect of going concerns, certain valuation techniques have evolved over time and commonly in vogue.

In this regard, we have evaluated suitability of three commonly used approaches on valuation to determine the fair value of companies.

The ICAI Valuation Standard 103 provides guidance for following three main valuation approaches:

- a) Market approach;

Comparable Company Market Multiple Method

Under this methodology, market multiples of comparable listed companies are computed and applied to the business being valued in order to arrive at a multiple based valuation. The difficulty here is in the selection of a comparable company since it is rare to find two or more companies with the same product portfolio, size, capital structure, business strategy, profitability and accounting practices. The following are some of the instances where the market approach is applied:

- i. where comparable or identical company is traded in the active market; or
- ii. there is a recent, orderly transaction in the asset to be valued; or
- iii. there are recent comparable orderly transactions identical or
- iv. comparable asset(s) and information for the same is available and reliable.

As all companies being private limited, comparable information available from the active market would not be effective bench mark to value the price per share of each company as there would be material differences between the companies to be valued and the market comparable, and require significant adjustments, hence we have not used this methodology in the Analysis.

Comparable Transactions Multiple Method

This approach is somewhat similar to the market multiples approach except that the sales and EBITDA multiples of reported transactions in the same industry in the recent past are applied to the sales and EBITDA of the business being valued.

We have not considered this methodology in the Analysis as we understand that there are no comparable transactions in the sector to which the Company belongs.

b) Income Approach

Income approach is a valuation approach that converts maintainable or future amounts (e.g., cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (i.e., discounted or capitalised) amount. The fair value measurement is determined on the basis of the value indicated by current market expectations about those future amounts. Valuation method to be applied under income approach is Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) Method. The DCF method is one of the most common methods for valuing shares, businesses, etc. This method involves discounting of future cash flows expected to be generated by an asset over its life using an appropriate discount rate to arrive at the present value.

This approach is not to be used if:

- a. there is significant uncertainty on the amount and timing of income/future cash flows;
- b. there is amalgamation of existing activities;
- c. the client has not shared information relating to the future cash flow, e.g., projections/budgets or growth expectations specific to the business.

We have not considered this methodology in the Analysis as the future cash flows have not been provided and there is amalgamation of existing activities.

c) Cost approach

We have used this method in the Analysis.

The value arrived at under this approach is based on the audited financial statements of the business and may be defined as Shareholders' Funds or Net Assets owned by the business. The balance sheet values are adjusted for any contingent liabilities that are likely to materialize and valuing an asset based on the cost that a market participant shall have to incur to recreate an asset with substantially the same utility (comparable utility) as that of the asset to be valued, adjusted for obsolescence. The management of the Transferor and Transferee Companies has obtained fair value report from Valuers for Land & Building.

This methodology ignores:

- the future returns the assets can produce and is calculated using historical accounting data that does not reflect how much the business is worth to someone who may buy it as a going concern.

- the true business value of the Company as the current NAV would not be reflective of its growth potential going forward and thus would not reveal.

XI. VALUATION

The valuation under Cost Approach i. e. combined Historical Cost and Replacement Cost Method.

- As apparent from the Balance sheets, the major portion of the assets held by the companies is fixed assets and current assets including short term loans and advances. As has been informed, no revaluation of the immovable assets held by the companies was made out in the past.
- As informed, all the current assets, loans and advances are stated at the values that can be realized in the ordinary course of the business. None of the Loans and Advances is doubtful of recovery.
- Fixed assets other than real estate, held by the companies are valued as per their Book Value, whereas real estate (land/buildings) are valued at approximate market value as per the Valuation Report taken by the Companies from the Registered Valuer, Mr. Parag Kishorbhai Sheth (Reg. No- IBBI/RV/07/2019/11235). As observed from the valuation report, the present market value of fixed assets of Transferee company is higher than their present book value.
- As informed, there are no contingent liabilities other than provided in the accounts.
- The Transferee Company has investment of 49,980 Equity Shares in Transferor Company and shall be cancelled post amalgamation.
